From the Publisher

This has already been an exciting season - and it's not even close to being over! Highlights so far include a team from Saugeen Golf Club qualifying for the RBC PGA Scramble Canadian Championship at Cabot Cliffs and Cabot Links on Cape Breton Island (see page 2) and an Orillia-area teen winning a national championship (see page 16).

More excitement awaits us in September as the Canadian Men's Senior Golf Championship will be played at Saugeen Golf Club (see pages 4-5). This promises to be a great event with organizers going above and beyond to create a memorable championship. Not only will you have a chance to see some of the best senior men's golfers in the country - and several others from countries as far away as Australia - you can join in the fun of Golf Fest. It's a four-day event featuring live music, interactive golf games, a silent auction, food and beverages in a beer garden atmosphere and a golf simulator.

This national championship comes after BruceGreySimcoe has already played host to two Ontario championships. The Ontario Senior Women's Championship was held last month at The Golf Club at Lora Bay and earlier in the year the Ontario Champion of Champions event took place at The Club at Bond Head in south Simcoe. A third provincial championship - the Ontario Public Amateur Championship for men and women - is set for Aug. 29-30 at Tangle Creek Golf & Country Club near Barrie. This is great for our area, putting our courses in the spotlight and exposing visiting golfers to the beauty of BGS.

I hope you enjoy this edition and have a fantastic finish to the season!

Celebrating golf Saugeen style

Organizers of the Canadian Men's Senior Championship are planning a 4-day event that includes music, interactive games and more Saugeen Golf Club turns 100 years old this year and it has found the perfect way to celebrate the milestone.

The picturesque 27-hole facility between Port Elgin and Southampton is playing host to the prestigious Canadian Men's Senior Championship from Sept. 12-15 and tournament organizers are planning a multi-faceted celebration of the game of golf.

With the event including 156 of the best golfers from across Canada, the U.S., Great Britain and Australia, the tournament itself will be a big attraction. But the organizing committee has also planned what they are calling Golf Fest which adds activities that will appeal to the broader community.

A huge marquee tent (The Village on the Green) is being erected on the front parking lot, housing interactive games, a golf simulator, sponsor displays, a beer garden, and a silent auction. Outside there will be disc golf and putting, chipping and hole in one contests, plus anyone can follow their favourite golfer around the course. The field will include at least a few golfers from the BruceGreySimcoe region.

While the tent will feature ongoing live entertainment from Thursday through Sunday, the highlight will be on Friday evening (Sept. 13th) when the 18-piece Canadian Big Band takes to the stage.

The tournament dates overlap with the Saugeen Shores Big Band weekend and rather than competing with each other for spectators, the organizing committees for each event have collaborated to stage this unique attraction.

Rob Brignell, a member of the Saugeen host organizing committee who brought the two groups together, is excited by the collaboration, stating, "While we will be featuring great local talent throughout the four days of Golf Fest, the fact that we will be hosting The Canadian Big Band on Friday evening is a huge boost for our event."

Charlie Bell of the local Big Band Committee says "It is a truly unique opportunity to be able to host a band of that renown here. The scale of the Golf Fest tent venue makes it possible."

Bell and Brignell, both well acquainted with the music scene, note that the 18 members of the band are among the absolute best professional jazz musicians in the country.

The championship will take place on the Legacy and Sunrise 9-hole layouts, while Sunset will be used for the Golf Fest activities. Anyone can participate in a hole in one contest and, if successful, win a two-year lease on a vehicle provided by Port Elgin Chrysler.

Ken Dunlop, chair of the championship committee, states, "We are fortunate to have twenty seven holes at Saugeen. It provides the unique opportunity to hold this prestigious event on eighteen holes, and to use the other nine for Golf Fest activities."

Dunlop plans to attract 500 to 1,000 people per day over the four days, noting that Golf Fest will appeal to all ages, golfer or not, and that the local economy, notably hotels and restaurants, will see a welcome off-season surge.

Kids 16 and under get free access to Golf Fest when accompanied by an adult. A 4-day pass is $50 for the general public and $30 for members and volunteers.

Organizers note that access to the Big Band night would otherwise be $25 alone so the price is a bargain. Golf Fest passes are available in the pro shop or on the club website (saugeengolf.com/seniors).

The event kicks off on Sept. 11 with an opening ceremony featuring dignitaries and local golfing legend Jack Northey hitting the opening tee shot.

New indoor golf facility

Grey Bruce Golf Club and Academy to open in Port Elgin

Artist renderings of new indoor golf facility.

A new state-of-the-art indoor golf facility is scheduled to open in Port Elgin this fall.

The Grey Bruce Golf Club and Academy will be situated at 216 Goderich Street. The grand opening is scheduled for Nov. 1.

The facility will offer four state-of-the-art Trackman simulators, each located in its own private suite, and a 650-foot custom putting green dedicated to the ultra-high tech PuttView training system, recognized as the top choice of PGA players and professionals for its lasers indicating line, weight, and slope of the terrain from anywhere on the putting green.

The closest facility offering this type of technology is in Barrie or Toronto.

Members will also be able to practice their chipping skills from multiple angles on the green. Other amenities include a fully-licensed social lounge, private club storage and onsite club regripping.

The facility is being created by Glen Barnett, a Canadian Golf Teachers Federation and Canadian Golf Psychology Association golf pro who works out of Pinewoods Golf Course near Sauble. He will be developing the facility along with his wife Sue.

Personalized coaching sessions/clinics with Glen will be available for members and non-members. It will offer a fully automated entry and security system as well as online booking.

"We are genuinely excited and all-in with building this exceptional golf experience," said Barnett. Video link:

Ultra-rare feat

Shane Barker has now aced every par 3 at his home course of Legacy Ridge

For the average amateur golfer, the odds of making a hole-in-one are 12,000 to one. Players who manage to make multiple aces are indeed exceptional, but what about making an ace at each of the par-3s on your home course? The odds of that are astronomical but Shane Barker accomplished the feat earlier this season at his home club of Legacy Ridge Golf Club.

His May 23 ace on Legacy's #2 completed the cycle. His previous aces were on #8, #12, #14, and #17, accomplished over 20 years.

Barker has been told by golf professionals and others that no one has ever done this at Legacy or anywhere else.

The closest to this feat, based on internet searches, was an American golfer who aced all four of the par 3 holes at his home course. Bernard Banahan, a Phoenix-based attorney, accomplished the feat over 17 years of playing at Phoenix Golf and Country Club.

But it may be possible that Barker is the only one to ever ace all five par 3s at his home club.

The Club at Westlinks held its club championships earlier this month and the winners were, from left, Ladies Division - Lori Chesterman, Senior Men's Division - Mike Aubrey, Junior Division - Alistair Telling, Men's Division - Andy Mitchell and Intermediate Division - Luke Thornley.

Spencer Shropshire accepts his awards after winning the Canadian Juvenile championship.

Orillia teen wins Canadian championship

Spencer Shropshire of Hawk Ridge Golf Club claims juvenile championship

Spencer Shropshire is only 16 years old but he already has a national championship on his golf resume.

The member at Hawk Ridge Golf Club near Orillia won the Juvenile division of the Canadian Junior Boys Championship, which was held earlier this month at Innisfail Golf Club near Red Deer, Alberta.

He shot rounds of 66-66-72-75 to finish at 9 under par. That not only clinched the Juvenile title but also put him in third place in the Junior division.

"I actually felt pretty confident the whole week," he said in an article posted by OrilliaMatters.com. "I didn't really feel any nerves, which is good."

Going into the final day, Shropshire kept his eyes on the leaderboard. He knew the whole time where he stood in comparison to those chasing him. He held on to win by two strokes.

"When I got to the last hole, I had a four-shot lead.

I knew it was essentially over," he said.

On the final hole, he says, he took the opportunity to enjoy the moment. "It's my biggest win so far," he said.

Shropshire says the tournament was a culmination of all of his hard work throughout the year.

"It was awesome," he said. "The whole year has led to that moment, so I'd say it was pretty fulfilling."

While most of his friends and family were back home in Orillia during the event, his grandmother was with him to celebrate the win.

The Patrick Fogarty Catholic Secondary School student hopes his impressive victory will get him some more looks from Division I schools in the NCAA.

"I'm sure it'll unlock a lot of doors for me in future," he said. "To know I can compete with the best is huge for my confidence."

Million dollar idea

Pike Lake's George Forrest started a fundraising tourney to honour the memory of his wife and 20 years later $1 million+ has been raised for local health care

When George Forrest came up with the idea of holding a fundraising tournament to honour the memory of his wife Mary Lynne he had no idea it would become such a successful and long-running event. "Gosh, I never ever dreamt of getting to $1 million (in fundraising)," said the former Director of Golf Operations and part-owner of Pike Lake Golf Centre.

"I'm always flabbergasted by the response of the community. Some tournaments die off after a few years but this one is more like a family reunion with a lot of the same people back every year," he said.

The event began two years after George's wife Mary Lynne passed away from brain cancer. Prior to her death, Mary Lynne spent about a year getting treatment at hospitals in the local area and in London.

It was during this time that George learned about how hospitals operate, including how much they rely on community support for new equipment.

So he was highly motivated to make sure the money raised through the tournament went to specific items to improve local health care (see list on this page).

This has continued during the 20 years the tournament has been running and it was decided for the 20th anniversary event that the $60,000 proceeds would be split between the two local hospitals - Louise Marshall in Mount Forest and Palmerston & District.

The event received a boost this year when PGA Tour player David Hearn, a supporter of the event since the beginning, decided to attend for the first time as his schedule allowed for that to happen.

Hearn, who learned to play golf as a junior at Pike Lake, ended up playing with George's daughters (George was supposed to play with them but had a fall prior to the event and wasn't able to play).

After the golf, Hearn visited with many of the tourney participants - including some who remembered him from his days at the club - and made what George described as a "wonderful speech." "It was a very emotional day," he said.
