It's the people!

Yes, that's the best part of my job

Steve Harron

From the Publisher

The best part of my job is meeting some of the great people from the world of golf.

People like Jacquie Diverty, who is one half of a dedicated golf couple whose enthusiasm for the game has never dwindled over the past 40 years (See adjacent Super Seniors feature).

Or people like Greg Hickey, a former pro hockey player who now works as the General Manager and Head Golf Professional at the Braestone Club near Orillia (Greg had some great stories to share in the Summer edition).

So, as we head into the home stretch of the season, I'd like to mention a few of my favourite 2019 experiences, which of course, were based on interactions with golfers. They include:

- Playing golf with Judith Kyrinis at Woodington Lake Golf Club during a Media Day then watching her later in the summer win the Canadian Women's Senior, Mid-Master and Mid-Amateur championships. After playing with her, I was not at all surprised to see her get the win.
- Talking to former Owen Sound golfer Austin Ryan prior to the Legacy Ridge Pro-Am about his plans to pursue a career in pro golf then finding out afterwards he shot 63 to not only win the event but also record the lowest competitive score in the 99-year history of the club (See story, page 10). I've covered his career since his junior golf days so this was a very cool moment.
- Reporting on two golfers from BruceGreySimcoe winning Ontario and Canadian golf championships on the same day. Don't know if that's ever happened before (Story page 15).

These are just a few of the many highlights of the season but they give you a pretty good idea of why I love what I do.

A few housekeeping items: Although this is the final edition of the season, golf coverage will continue online. If you haven't already, just Like the golfbrucegreysimcoe Facebook page or follow me on Twitter and Instagram. Another good option is to visit golfbrucegreysimcoe.com where you'll find the latest golf news and you can sign up for an e-newsletter.

Finally, my thanks to all my advertisers and contributors. You make it all possible and for that I am truly thankful.

And to all of my readers, enjoy the rest of the season and please stay in touch online!

JACK & JACQUIE DIVERTY

Jack and Jacquie Diverty have been golfing together for 40 years at Sauble Golf and Country Club and during that time they have never lost their passion for the game. They both worked as school principals in the Hamilton area and spent their summers at Sauble before retiring 24 years ago. They became full-time Sauble residents in 2004. They usually play with another couple on Mondays and in the Seniors League (men's and women's) on Wednesdays. Each of those days they play 18 holes with a power cart. Jacquie is 80 and Jack is 79 and they stay in shape by walking, gardening and biking. The game has allowed them to make many friends at the Sauble course and it's the camaraderie that they enjoy the most. "Our score isn't as important as being with people and enjoying the fresh air," Jacquie said. Their enthusiasm for the game has rubbed off on their son Brent, who grew up playing the Sauble course and still loves the game, and grandson Kaeden, a student who is currently working in the industry.

Homestead's Gary Menaul returns to his homeland & witnesses historic Open win

Being in Ireland to watch an Irishman win the Open Championship in his homeland was an unforgettable experience for Gary Menaul of Homestead Golf & Winter Resort near Durham.

"It was like a dream come true," said Menaul of his trip to Northern Ireland for the 2019 Open Championship at Royal Portrush Golf Club.

He spent Thursday and Friday at the course and, with popular Irishmen Rory McIlroy, Shane Lowry, Darren Clarke and Graeme McDowell in the field, the atmosphere was raucous.

"It was like being at a rock concert," Menaul said.

The golf course was very familiar to Menaul, who grew up on the outskirts of Belfast and played Royal Portrush many times, including as a competitor in the North of Ireland Amateur Championship in 1963. (He came within two strokes of qualifying for the Match Play portion of the championship).

Menaul, who emigrated to Canada in 1968 at age 23, said he was passionate about returning to his homeland to visit relatives and take in the Open Championship, which was being held in Ireland for the first time in 50 years.

And he was thrilled to be on hand at Royal Portrush for some exciting moments. Among them was arriving at the course on Thursday about 10 a.m. to discover that an Irishman (Darren Clarke) was leading the tournament.

Menaul was also on hand the next day when Clarke, needing only a bogey on #18 to make the cut, three-putted for a double bogey. "I don't think I've ever seen anyone so rejected," he said of Clarke.

But more heart-break was yet to come as Rory McIlroy, after opening with a 79, made a valiant attempt to make the cut with a 65 on Friday only to come up one stroke short.

Menaul spent the Saturday and Sunday watching the tournament in the Armand Pub in Armoyn, about 30 minutes from Royal Portrush.

That too was a raucous environment, with patrons shoulder-to-shoulder and standing up to cheer on Shane Lowry as he closed in on the championship title.

With so much at stake on the Sunday, the crowd was nervous and somewhat subdued until Lowry reached the 16th hole, Menaul said.

"From that point on it got louder and louder and built up to a crescendo," he said.

When Lowry finally putted out and his victory became official, the crowd broke into songs, hooted and hollered and raised their pints in victory.

"It was hard to believe. It was almost chilling," he said.

The party continued for four days in Ireland, with the country celebrating the historic win.

While Lowry's victory was the big story, Menaul had another memorable experience in the pub the same day. Someone had come in the day before with a framed flag from Pebble Beach Golf Links that was signed by Graeme McDowell after his victory there in the 2010 U.S. Open.

Menaul said McDowell had donated the flag to the Rotary Club in the Royal Portrush area and they had auctioned it off to a wealthy Irish businessman, who gave it to his brother-in-law (the man who came to the pub).

Interested in acquiring the flag to add to the memorabilia at his Homestead Resort, Menaul approached the man and asked to buy it.

The man was reluctant to sell it so Menaul kept raising his price and by the next morning, they finally came to terms at 400 pounds (about $700 Canadian).

The sale caused quite a stir in the bar and they posed for pictures as Menaul accepted his prized possession. Almost as difficult as the negotiations, was the trip home through security at Dublin Airport with the framed flag.

"They weren't going to let me take it on the plane and we got into a big argument," he said. He finally convinced them that the aircraft personnel were OK with him bringing it on board (a desperate lie to keep the flag in his possession).

Fortunately, two friendly flight attendants agreed to find a safe spot for it when he arrived on the plane.

Despite the hassles, Menaul believes the flag will be a great conversation piece" at the Homestead club, which is now managed by his son Jason (Gary sold the course in 2019 but continues to help out there).

Austin Ryan sets competitive course record at Legacy Ridge and Derek Regier shoots record score at Ainsdale

Golf pro Austin Ryan decided last year that he wanted to see where his game could take him. Well, on Aug. 16, 2019 at Legacy Ridge Golf Club, his game took him to a place where no one in the 99-year history of the club has gone before.

He fired a 63 (-8) to win the club's Pro-Am and establish a new competitive course record at the Owen Sound-area club.

For the former Owen Sound golfer and current member and employee at Galt Golf and Country Club, it was a terrific homecoming and an encouraging sign as he pursues his goal of making a living on a pro tour.

He currently plays on the Great Lakes Tour and hopes to try Monday qualifying for the Mckenzie Tour - PGA Tour Canada next season.

Ryan was a two-time overall champion on the Grey Bruce Junior Golf Tour and went on to a stellar varsity career with the Wilfrid Laurier Golden Hawks which included him winning the Ontario University Association individual championship in 2016.

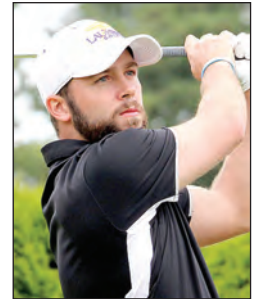

He was not alone in setting a course record this season in the BruceGreySimcoe region.

Ainsdale Golf Course member Derek Regier accomplished the feat July 25 with a 63 on the par-72 course.

His record round was from the Trillium (middle) tees and included a 33 (-2) on the front, which counted as his Men's League score, and an incredible 30 (-7) on the back.

It is definitely the lowest round since Charles and Taylor Candler took ownership of the course in 2017 but it's also believed to be the lowest ever recorded (no history of course records has been kept).

Regier can expect more excitement at the golf course later this season as he plans to marry Carly Schmidt, sister of Taylor Candler, on Oct. 19 at Ainsdale.

Stone Tree plays host for 2nd straight year

The second annual Stone Tree Golf and Fitness Club Special Olympics Golf Tournament was held Aug. 19 with participation from 41 athletes from the Barrie Eagles, the Collingwood Under Pars, the Central Bruce Eagles and the Owen Sound Chippers.

The tournament was followed by a delicious meal and awards ceremony at the resort's banquet facility.

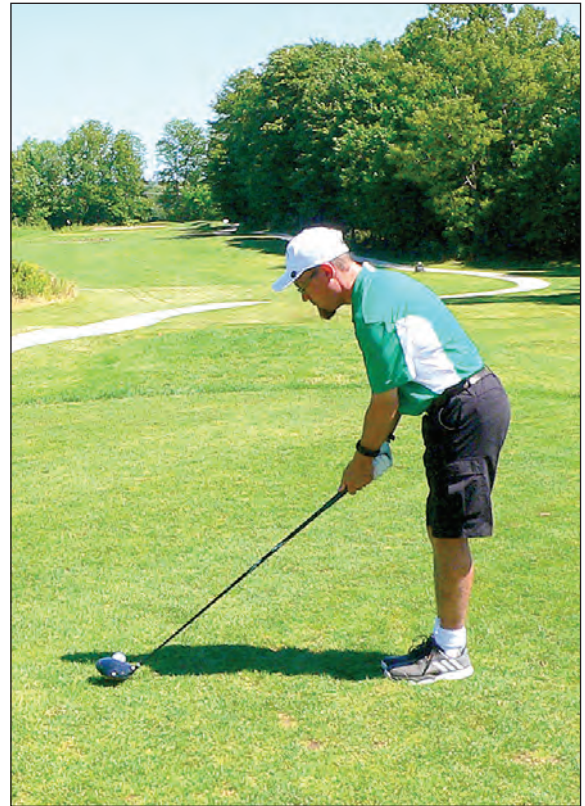

In first place in the 9 Hole Stroke play for women was Laura Traynor (Collingwood). Second place went to Robin Shuter (Collingwood) while Ashley Lane (Collingwood) was third. In the men's 9 Hole Stroke play first place went to Samuel Williams (Barrie). Finishing 2nd and 3rd respectively were Tyler Jilek (Owen Sound) and Kyle Zank (Barrie).

In the 9 Hole Scramble division coming in first place was the team of Wayne Morton (Central Bruce), Jackson Torrie (Owen Sound), Ed Landry (Barrie) and Alex Ashdown (Central Bruce). Second place went to Ryan Cossey (Owen Sound), Jamie Gamble (Owen Sound) and Ray Tomlinson (Central Bruce). Jeremy Kranenburg (Central Bruce) and Nathaniel Yardy (Barrie) finished third.

In the 3 Hole competition the following two teams tied for first place. Team A consisted of Aimee Gilchrist (Owen Sound), Frank Baugh (Owen Sound), Kevin LaChance (Collingwood) and Luke Cornellsie (Collingwood). Team B was made up of Brogan Lackey (Owen Sound), Nathaniel Walcott (Owen Sound) and Tyson Batterman (Owen Sound).

In the Skills competition there was a first-place tie between Frank Baugh (Owen Sound) and Kevin LaChance (Collingwood). Tied for second place was Aimee Gilchrist (Owen Sound) and Brogan Lackey (Owen Sound). Tying for third were Tyson Batterman (Owen Sound), Luke Cornellsie (Collingwood) and Nathaniel Walcott (Owen Sound).

Special Olympics Fall and Winter Sports registration will be held at the Owen Sound YMCA on Sept. 6 and 13 from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Kyle Zank from Barrie was among the competitors at the Special Olympics tournament held Aug. 19 at Stone Tree Golf and Fitness Club.

Three-peat for Tippin

Saugeen member wins third junior title

It could be a first for the Grey Bruce Junior Golf Tour. Several golfers have won overall titles in two consecutive years but Saugeen Golf Club's Sean Tippin is believed to be the only one with a three-peat.

He wrapped up his third title this season by winning four of the seven tour events and having a stroke average of 74.

This is Tippin's final season on the tour and in addition to his overall and junior division championships, he received from the tour a $1,000 scholarship for post-secondary education.

He hasn't decided on his post-secondary plans yet but will return to high school in Kitchener to pick up additional Grade 12 credits this year (his family has a summer residence in Port Elgin but lives the rest of year in Kitchener).

Also receiving scholarships at the year-end banquet at Cobble Beach Golf Links were Carson Rutledge of Ainsdale Golf Course ($750) and Neil Gunn of Stone Tree Golf and Fitness Club ($1,000).

Over the years the tour has awarded about $80,000 in scholarships to 65 players.

The other division winners were: Juvenile - Marc Salnek of Pike Lake, Bantam - Austin Negus of Legacy Ridge Golf Club and Girls - Elizabeth Salnek of Pike Lake.

Dale Howlett, centre, received a 2020 membership at Legacy Ridge Golf Club after winning a closest to the pin contest on #17 during Ridgefest 2.0. Like all of the other 24 contestants, he was required to use a driver on the par 3 hole. With Howlett are Legacy Ridge President and Operations Manager Michael Todd, left, and Golf Operations Manager Sam McEvenue.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Former Grey-Bruce golfer Andy Myatt won the Men's Club Championship at Dundas Valley Golf and Curling Club, a private club near Hamilton, Ont. His caddy for the final day was his dad, Mike.

Andy Myatt

Many in the Grey-Bruce area are familiar with Andy Myatt.

He was a two-time overall champion on the Grey Bruce Junior Golf Tour, worked at Stone Tree Golf and Fitness Club and Saugeen Golf Club and attended West Virginia Tech on a golf scholarship.

He left the area eight years ago and now lives in the Hamilton region where he has worked in Human Resources for about six years.

He married Melanie Murken about three years ago and became a father to Xander about four months ago.

Golf is still very much a part of his life and last month he won the Men's Club Championship at Dundas Valley Golf and Curling Club.

He shot 72-77-70 for a one-stroke victory on the Civic Holiday weekend in August.

His dad, Mike, caddied for him during the final round, which made the victory that much better for the both of them.

Cobble Beach, Lora Bay make list

Cobble Beach Golf Links near Owen Sound has been rated the 21st best course in all of Canada. The Golf Club at Lora Bay (54th) also made SCOREGolf's recent Top 59 list. Both clubs also made the list for best value in Canada.

PROVINCIAL/NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Canadian titles for Zhu, provincial win for Greenaway

It was a tremendous - and possibly even unprecedented - day for amateur golf in BruceGreySimcoe.

On Aug. 1, Emily Zhu of National Pines Golf Club near Barrie won two national titles at the Canadian Junior Girls Championship. And the same day Barrie Country Club's David Greenaway claimed the Ontario Senior Men's Championship at Taboo Muskoka Golf Resort.

The 15-year-old Zhu carded a final round 68 (-4), overcoming a two-stroke deficit to win both the Junior and Juvenile Canadian championships at Lethbridge Country Club in Lethbridge, Alta.

She finished the tournament at -13, five strokes ahead of YanJun (Victoria) Liu (Vancouver) and Céleste Dao (Notre-Dame-de-l'Île-Perrot, Que.).

"I'm still kind of in shock," Zhu told Golf Canada shortly after the win. "Going into this tournament I really wanted to win, so this win makes me feel really, really good. I tried to play it like yesterday - focus on my shot and focus on hitting each one as good as I can."

It was an eerily similar situation to last year for Zhu. In 2018, she was in the final group and only one stroke back of the leader, eventually finishing in second. This year was different however, with the Team Canada National Development Squad member surpassing 54-hole leader YanJun (Victoria) Liu.

As the Canadian Junior Champion, Zhu earns an exemption into the 2020 Canadian Women's Amateur Championship.

Meanwhile, Greenaway shot a final round 68 to win the Senior Men's event. Having shot 71-72 in his first two rounds, he finished with a -2 total, which was one stroke better than second-place finisher Robert Gibson of Cedar Brae (72-70-70).

Fellow Barrie CC member John Murphy shot a final round 80 and finished in 9th. Another Barrie CC member - Ross Ballantyne - picked up the win in the age 70+ division. He
